I. Introducción:

La Evaluación Social o Económica de Proyectos solamente en los últimos años ha meritado la atención concentrada de algunos estudiosos, siendo por eso una materia joven donde todavía los enfoques y posiciones son muchas veces conflictantes contradictorios.

La lista siguiente de libros y artículos reúne la casi totalidad de los principales trabajos sobre el asunto siendo una orientación para los que están interesados en profundizar su conocimientos una vez que ellos reflejan los diferentes puntos de vista. Para evitar dispersión se ha marcado con () los trabajos que se considera más importantes y con (*) los necesarios al profundizado, siendo las demás lecturas complementarias y teóricas para los interesados en especializarse sobre el asunto.

Cabe referirse que esta Bibliografía corresponde a un capítulo (actualizado) de un documento más completo preparado en colaboración con el Ing. Hugo Javier Ochoa y publicado por el BID-Banco Interamericano de Desarrollo en sus Programas de Adiestramiento, con el título de Bibliografía para el Estudio de Proyectos, la cual cita 510 diferentes publicaciones para la orientación práctica y el estudio teórico referente a las técnicas de preparación y Evaluación de Proyectos.
