A unique and comprehensive source of information, the International Yearbook of Industrial Statistics is the only international publication providing economists, planners, policy makers and business people with worldwide statistics on current performance and trends in the manufacturing sector.

This is the first issue of the annual publication which succeeds the UNIDO's Handbook of Industrial Statistics and, at the same time, replaces the United Nation's Industrial Statistics Yearbook, volume 1 (General Industrial Statistics). Covering more than 120 countries areas, the new version contains data which is internationally comparable and much more detailed than that supplied in previous publications. Information has been collected directly from national statistical sources and supplemented with estimates by UNIDO.

The Yearbook is designed to facilitate international comparisons relating to manufacturing activity and industrial performance. It provides data which can be used to analyse patterns of growth, structural change and industrial performance in individual industries. Data on employment trends, wages and other key indicators are also presented. Finally, the detailed information presented here enables the user to study different aspects of industry which was not possible using the aggregate data previously available.

The description and classification of countries and territories in this publication and the arrangement of the material do not imply the expression of any opinion whatsoever on the part of the Secretariat of the United Nations Industrial Development Organization concerning the legal status of any country, territory, city or area, or of its authorities, or concerning the delimitation of its frontiers or boundaries, or regarding its economic system or degree of development. The designation "country or area" covers countries, territories, cities and areas. The designation "region, country or area" extends the preceding one by including groupings of entities designated as "country or area". Designations such as "industrialized" and "developing" countries and "newly industrialized countries" are intended for statistical convenience and do not necessarily express a judgement about the stage reached by a particular country or area in the development process.

Explanatory notes

Unless otherwise indicated, "manufacturing" includes the industry groups listed under major division 3 in the International Standard Industrial Classification of All Economic Activities [Statistical Papers, Series M, No.4/Rev.2 (United Nations publication, Sales No. E.68.XVII.8)].

International Standard Industrial Classification of All Economic Activities (ISIC) Revision 2 code numbers are accompanied by a descriptive title (for example, ISIC 323: "Manufacture of leather and products of leather, leather substitutes and fur, except footwear and wearing apparel"). For considerations of space, however, the description is sometimes shortened (that is, ISIC 323 may be described simply as "Leather and fur products").

In the presentation of several tables individual countries and areas are listed alphabetically, whenever appropriate, within two successive categories: industrialized countries and developing countries. Data relating to selected groups of countries are presented in part I. In addition to regional groupings, developing countries have been further classified into three income categories: developing countries with low income (less than $600 per capita gross domestic product in 1978 at current prices), those with middle income ($600-$1,320) and those with high income (more than $1,320). This group has also been arranged in four development categories: newly industrialized countries (NICs), second-generation NICs, least developed countries and other developing countries. NICs are defined as major exporters of manufactures among developing countries in the mid-1970s, with a share of manufactures in total merchandise exports exceeding 20 per cent. Second-generation NICs are developing countries with a high average annual growth rate (over 15 per cent during the period 1970-1985) and having manufactured exports exceeding $500 million in value in 1985. Countries and areas included in the groups are listed in appendix I to the introduction. Because of a lack of data, some countries could not be included in their respective groups in some tables.

This publication contains some references to countries that no longer exist. The statistical indicators, however, generally cover most of the period when they did exist. On 3 October 1990, through accession of the German Democratic Republic to the Federal Republic of Germany, the two German States united to form one sovereign State: "Germany". The Union of Soviet Socialist Republics ceased to exist as of 24 December 1991. Data provided for Yugoslavia prior to 1 January 1992 refer to the Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia, which was composed of six republics. Data provided for Yugoslavia after that date refer to the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia, which is composed of two republics (Serbia and Montenegro).

Data relating to China exclude Taiwan Province, unless otherwise stated.

References to dollars ($) are to United States dollars. National currencies have been converted to dollar equivalents by using period average exchange rates as published in International Financial Statistics (International Monetary Fund publication) and other sources.

Data converted to dollars by using current exchange rates are liable to be strongly influenced by fluctuations in exchange rates. Annual variations of data converted in that manner may not reflect movements in the national data.

Unless otherwise noted, average annual growth rates are calculated from the data available for each year of a given period (for example, 1975-1985), using a semi-log regression over time. Growth rates are expressed in percentages.

Periods set off by a hyphen (for instance, 1975-1985) include the beginning and end years.

Apparent arithmetical discrepancies, such as percentages that do not add up to precise totals, result from the rounding of basic data or figures known to different degrees of precision.

To avoid ambiguity the letters "l" and "o" are not used to designate footnotes.

Three dots (...) indicate that data are not available or are not separately reported.

Two dots (..) indicate that data are not applicable.

A dash ( - ) indicates that an amount is nil or negligible.

The letter "x" designates the item applicable to a country when several options exist.

INTRODUCTION

This is the first issue of UNIDO's annual publication, the International Yearbook of Industrial Statistics. The Yearbook succeeds the Handbook of Industrial Statistics which was published biennially by UNIDO up to 1992, and, at the same time, replaces the United Nations' Industrial Statistics Yearbook, volume I (General Industrial Statistics), which was discontinued after its 1991 edition published in 1993. These changes are in accordance with the recommendations of the United Nations Statistical Commission at its twenty-seventh session, namely that UNIDO, in collaboration with the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD), assumes responsibility for the collection and dissemination of world-wide general industrial statistics, effective 1994. The present Yearbook pertains to the manufacturing sector only, that is, major division 3 in the ISIC.

The main purpose of the Yearbook is to provide statistical indicators to facilitate international comparisons relating to the manufacturing sector. The data presented were compiled bearing in mind the requirements of international comparability and the standards for this work promulgated by the United Nations. Concepts and definitions are drawn from the International Recommendations for Industrial Statistics [Statistical Papers, Series M, No.48/Rev.1 (United Nations publication, Sales No.E.83.XVII.8)] and the classification by industry is taken from the International Standard Industrial Classification of All Economic Activities [Statistical Papers, Series M, No.4/Rev.2 (United Nations publication, Sales No.E.68.XVII.8)].

The present Yearbook consists of two parts. Part I deals with the manufacturing sector as a whole (section 1.1) and with its branches (section 1.2). Statistical indicators are presented in terms of percentage distributions, cross-country averages, ratios and real growth rates that facilitate international comparison among selected country groups and/or countries. Data for manufacturing branches are arranged according to the ISIC at the three-digit (or major-group) level. Part II consists of a series of country/area-specific tables showing detailed data on selected basic statistics that were reported by national statistical offices and selected indicators that were derived from the reported data.

Sources and methods

In section 1.1 of part I, manufacturing value added (MVA) was estimated in accordance with the national accounting concept, which represents the net contribution of the manufacturing sector to gross domestic product (GDP). The data on MVA and GDP for the period 1975-1991 were compiled by the Statistical Division of the United Nations Secretariat (UNSTAT) and supplemented with estimates generated by UNIDO. The data referring to 1992 are estimates generated by UNIDO. These estimates are based on data obtained from various national and international sources including the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund. With respect to population, the information draws on the 1994 revision of the data compiled by the Population Division of the United Nations Secretariat.

The information in section 1.2 is drawn from the UNIDO General Industrial Statistics Database. A large portion of the data for the years up to 1992 maintained in the database are those communicated to the United Nations by official national sources. With regard to figures for recent years, most of those referring to the member countries of the OECD were compiled by that organization. New information is solicited through a questionnaire issued jointly by the two organizations.

To facilitate the comparability of the data over time and across countries, UNIDO has supplemented originally reported data with information obtained from various other sources. The latter include: industrial censuses, statistics supplied by national and international organizations, unpublished data collected in the field by UNIDO as well as estimates made by the UNIDO secretariat.*

All indicators related to value data were derived at constant 1980 prices, except for several indicators presented in Tables 1.5 and 1.12.

Users should be aware that, in part I, owing to a lack of relevant data, China is normally not included in world totals. The only exception is table 1.2, where the share of China in world MVA has been estimated for recent years on the basis of data provided by UNSTAT and unpublished information.

Except for index numbers of industrial production, the information for the countries and areas other than the OECD member countries presented in part II were compiled from (i) the recent editions

* UNIDO's procedures for estimation are described in "Industrial statistics for research purposes -- methodology applied in the development and maintenance of the UNIDO Industrial Statistics Data Base" (UNIDO/PPD.192).

(including the 1992 edition, i.e., the latest and the final edition) of the United Nations General Industrial Statistics Questionnaire and those of its Supplementary General Industrial Statistics Questionnaire completed by national statistical offices and provided to UNIDO through UNSTAT and (ii) relevant publications issued by national statistical offices. Information referring to OECD member countries is based on data compiled by OECD via questionnaire and incorporated in OECD's Information System on Industrial Statistics as well as in the UNIDO database. With respect to production indices, data were supplied by UNSTAT which compiles these data regularly from national sources through the quarterly United Nations Index of Industrial Production Questionnaire.

In section 1.2 of part I and in part II, the measures generally used are census output and census value added. Thus, the costs of non-industrial services are included in value added, whereas the receipts for these services are excluded from output. For a quick reference, Appendix II to this introduction provides notes on certain aspects of the data used, and it is recommended that the reader consult them when using the Yearbook. A detailed version appears in the individual country notes in part II, which also covers deviations from the standards applied. In general, these notes are also applicable to the estimates that supplement the officially reported data.

The co-operation of national statistical offices, OECD and UNSTAT in the provision of the information which is the basis of the current publication is gratefully acknowledged.

PART I. SUMMARY TABLES

Section 1.1: The manufacturing sector

Section 1.1 comprises tables 1.1 to 1.5. Table 1.1 shows the distribution of world MVA (excluding China) for various regions and groups of countries. To maintain comparability over time, composition of each group of countries was kept the same throughout the period. The only exception is the case of EC where the eastern part of Germany is excluded up to 1990.

Table 1.2 shows the share of China in world MVA for the period 1981-1992. The reader should be aware that due to variation in official exchange rates the world distribution may change considerably depending on the choice of the base year.

Table 1.3 shows the shares of selected groups of developing countries in MVA and in population of all developing countries.

Table 1.4 shows real growth rates and index numbers (1980=100) of total and per capita MVA for individual countries and areas and for selected country groups. Data referring to country groups were based on cross-country aggregates of MVA in constant 1980 US dollars.

Table 1.5 shows the percentage shares of MVA in GDP estimated both at constant 1930 prices and at current prices. The data are presented by individual countries and areas as well as by selected country groups. GDP has been calculated as the sum of value added of individual sectors. Data given for individual sectors may sum up to an amount different from data given for total GDP. The sources of this discrepancy are specific to each country and are rarely documented. With respect to the selected country groups, common country samples were taken for both indicators and for all reference years. Furthermore, the shares of MVA in GDP are aggregated at the level of the grouping by dividing the sum of MVA by the sum of GDP.

Section 1.2: The manufacturing branches

Section 1.2 comprises tables 1.6 to 1.12. It focuses on the branches of the manufacturing sector. Branches are defined as major ISIC groups, reported in accordance with a three-digit code. The ISIC definition of manufacturing comprises 28 major groups or branches.

Table 1.6 shows the world distribution of the respective value added of selected 24 branches among selected country groups. Four branches are omitted from the table because the data are too scanty to ensure comparability between years. To derive world totals, particularly for the latest years, a number of estimates at the country level, especially for many developing countries, were generated.

Table 1.7 shows the shares of developing regions and the least developed countries in the value added of all developing countries in selected branches. Due to lack of sufficient data, estimates at the country level had to be generated to enable regional aggregation. Instead of 1992, the year 1991 has been chosen as the latest year. Nevertheless, a number of branches had to be excluded from the presentation due to data limitations.

Table 1.8 shows the world's leading producers in various industrial branches as well as the leading developing countries and areas in terms of value added. World totals exclude the countries of eastern Europe and the former USSR. As in the case of table 1.6, data for 1992 include many estimates generated for individual countries.

Table 1.9 shows the shares of individual branches in total MVA by country grouping. In the case of developing countries the data coverage is limited but still representative; it includes 70 countries and areas which in 1980 accounted for 96 per cent of the MVA of all developing countries.

Table 1.10 shows real growth rates of value added of individual branches, calculated for selected country groups. The reference periods are 1975-1985 and 1985-1992. However, due to lack of comparable data, the second period is 1985-1991 or 1985-1990 in several cases.

Table 1.11 presents the share of female employees in total employment in individual branches. For some countries, employment refers to number of persons engaged instead of number of employees (see Appendix II of the present introduction). Only a limited number of countries and areas have reported data on female employment at the branch level.

Table 1.12 shows, for individual countries and areas, basic indicators that are characteristic of the manufacturing branches. Average annual rates of growth refer to compound rates based on data for the initial and terminal years indicated. For the calculations of real growth rates of value added per employee and those of wage rates, value added estimates at constant 1980 prices were derived using production indexes while wages at constant 1980 prices were derived by deflating wages at current prices with consumer price indexes. Costs of input materials and utilities are calculated as output minus value added. Costs of labour refer to wages and salaries of employees only. Operating surplus is calculated as value added minus wages and salaries paid to employees.

Information concerning the following branches is excluded from table 1.12: beverages (ISIC 313); tobacco (ISIC 314); petroleum refineries (ISIC 353); and petroleum and coal products (ISIC 354). Production indicators (output, value added) for those four branches are highly sensitive to the valuation method (which may or may not include indirect taxes and subsidies). Because that method is not applied uniformly among countries, international comparison of the branches concerned is not advisable. Two more branches were excluded due to lack of sufficient data, i.e., professional and scientific equipment (ISIC 385) and other manufactures (ISIC 390).

PART II. COUNTRY TABLES

Part II comprises country/area-specific tables presenting selected industrial statistics and indicators. The basic statistics presented here are: number of establishments, number of employees (or, if not reported, number of persons engaged), wages and salaries paid to employees, output, value added, gross fixed capital formation and index numbers of industrial production. All value data are presented in current national currencies. The data on these items (except index numbers of industrial production) relate to 1985 and the latest three years for which data were reported. Index numbers of industrial production refer to the period 1984-1992. Production indices for total manufacturing were derived as weighted averages across branches employing 1980 value-added base weights.

In addition to these statistics, share of value added in output and that of wages and salaries in value added are presented. Changes in these shares as well as differences across countries may be due partly to changing operating surplus that is a major component of value added. There were several cases where reported value added was smaller than the corresponding reported wages or where value added was reported to be negative. In these instances, the two indicators are not calculated.

Industrial classification

The classification of industrial activity set out in the tables follows the three- and four-digit levels of the ISIC, or the three-digit level if no data on four-digit groups were reported. Where information was not provided in this form, the estimates are shown in the most applicable category. Aggregates for total manufacturing (or ISIC major division 3) are included.

It should be noted that in several cases a figure presented for a 3-digit group does not agree with the sum of data given for the corresponding 4-digit categories. For most instances, these discrepancies resulted from the fact that data at the 3-digit level and the 4-digit level were collected through two separate questionnaires. As far as possible, UNIDO resolved these discrepancies with the help of available supplementary information.

Reference unit

For most countries and areas represented, the data shown relate to the activity of "establishments" in the specified industries rather than any other type of industrial unit. In a few cases, however, the concepts of "kind-of-activity unit", "local unit" or "enterprise" are found. An "establishment" is ideally a unit which engages, under a single ownership or control, in one, or predominantly one, kind of activity at a single location; for example, workshop or factory. A "kind-of-activity unit" differs from the establishment in that there is no restriction with respect to the geographical area in which a given kind of activity is carried out by a single legal entity. A "local unit", on the other hand, comprises all activities carried on under a single ownership or control at a single location and differs from the establishment-type of unit in that there is no restriction on the range of these activities.

An "enterprise" is a legal entity possessing the right to conduct business in its own name; for example, to enter into contracts, own property, incur liability for debts, and establish bank accounts. In the eastern European countries and the former USSR, the reference unit is normally the enterprise and this is usually defined as the unit having a single administration with the right to conclude contracts, an independent production plan, an independent current bank account and a self-contained system of bookkeeping with independent balance sheets and profit-and-loss statements. Specific information on the character of the units covered in the tables for each country is set out in the corresponding country note.

Reference period

The statistics in the tables relate, in general, to the calendar year. It should be noted, however, that in many cases where the basic reference period of the industrial inquiry is the calendar year, returns covering proximate fiscal years may be accepted for reporting purposes and the data for these years incorporated in the calendar-year aggregates without adjustment. In a few countries, fiscal years normally used for public accounting purposes have been adopted as the basic reference periods. In the case of fiscal-year coverage, the year indicated in the tables refers to the calendar year in which the major part of the fiscal year falls. In the case of fiscal years from 1 July to 30 June, the year referred to is normally the one in which the fiscal year ends.

Concepts and definitions of the items

The United Nations standards which have been applied in preparing the tables are set out below. All values are in national currency units and are at current prices unless otherwise indicated. For each country, deviations from these concepts and definitions are described in its country note.

(1) Number of persons engaged and number of employees

The number of persons engaged is defined as the total number of persons who worked in or for the establishment during the reference year. However, homeworkers are excluded. The concept covers working proprietors, active business partners and unpaid family workers as well as employees. The figures reported refer normally to the average number of persons engaged during the reference year, obtained as the sum of the "average number of employees" during the year and the total number of other persons engaged measured for a single period of the year. The category "employees" is intended to include all persons engaged other than working proprietors, active business partners and unpaid family workers. In this publication, preference has been given, whenever possible, to employees over persons engaged.

(2) Wages and salaries

Estimates of wages and salaries include all payments in cash or in kind made to "employees" during the reference year in relation to work done for the establishment. Payments include: (a) direct wages and salaries; (b) remuneration for time not worked; (c) bonuses and gratuities; (d) housing allowances and family allowances paid directly by the employer; and (e) payments in kind. Excluded are employers' contributions on behalf of their employees paid to social security, pension and insurance schemes, as well as the benefits received by employees under these schemes and severance and termination pay.

(3) Output

The measure of output normally used in the tables is the census concept which covers only activities of an industrial nature. The value of census output in the case of estimates compiled on a production basis comprises: (a) the value of all products of the establishment; (b) the net change between the beginning and the end of the reference period in the value of work in progress and stocks of goods to be shipped in the same condition as received; (c) the value of industrial work done or industrial services rendered to others; (d) the value of goods shipped in the same condition as received less the amount paid for these goods; and (e) the value of fixed assets produced during the period by the unit for its own use. In the case of estimates compiled on a shipment basis, the net change in the value of stocks of finished goods between the beginning and the end of the reference period is also included.

Gross output is equivalent to census output plus the revenue from activities of a non-industrial nature. Valuation may be in factor values, excluding all indirect taxes falling on production and including all current subsidies received in support of production activity, or in producers' prices, including all indirect taxes and excluding all subsidies.

(4) Value added

The measure of value added normally used in the tables is the census concept, which is defined as the value of census output less the value of census input. Items covered in the latter include: (a) value of materials and supplies for production (including cost of all fuel and purchased electricity); and (b) cost of industrial services received (mainly payments for contract and commission work and repair and maintenance work). If input estimates are compiled on a "received" rather than on a "consumed" basis, the result is adjusted for the net change between the beginning and the end of the period in the value of stocks of materials, fuel and other supplies.

Total value added is the national accounting concept. It is ideally represented by the contribution of the establishments in each branch of activity to the gross domestic product. For the measure of total value added, the cost of non-industrial services is deducted and the receipts for non-industrial services are added to census value added. The estimates, whether in terms of census value added or total value added, are gross of depreciation and other provisions for capital consumption, unless otherwise stated. The valuation may be in factor costs or in producers' prices, depending on the treatment of indirect taxes and subsidies.

(5) Gross fixed capital formation

Estimates refer to the value of purchases and own-account construction of fixed assets during the reference year less the value of corresponding sales. The fixed assets covered are those (whether new or used) with a productive life of one year or more. These assets, which are intended for the use of the establishment, include fixed assets made by the establishment's own labour force for its own use. Major additions, alterations and improvements to existing assets which extend their normal economic life or raise their productivity are also included.

New fixed assets include all those that have not been previously used in the country. Thus, newly imported fixed assets are considered new whether or not used before they were imported. Used fixed assets include all those that have been previously used within the country. Transactions in fixed assets include: (a) land; (b) buildings, other construction and land improvements; (c) transport equipment; and (d) machinery and other equipment.

Assets acquired from others are valued at purchasers' prices, which cover all costs directly connected with the acquisition and installation of the items for use. In principle, assets produced on own account are also valued in this manner. However, it may frequently be necessary to value such own-account production at explicit cost, including any imputations that may be required in respect of the employed own-account labour. Assets produced by one establishment of a multi-establishment enterprise for the use of another establishment of the same enterprise should be valued by the receiving establishment as though purchased from outside the enterprise. Sales of assets should be valued at the actual amounts realized rather than at book values.

(6) Index numbers of industrial production

The indices in the tables are compiled from national indices which are calculated by use of the Laspeyres formula. The comparison base year is 1980. However, if different base years are used in any countries, the national indices are converted to the base year.

Supplier of information:

Australian Bureau of Statistics, Canberra.

The index numbers of industrial production are compiled by the Institute of Applied Economic and Social Research, University of Melbourne.

Industrial statistics for the OECD countries are compiled by the OECD secretariat, which supplies them to UNIDO. The notes appearing here are based on information in the OECD publication Industrial Structure Statistics (annual), OECD, Paris.

Basic source of data:

Annual census of manufacturing establishments.

Major deviations from current version of ISIC:

None reported.

Reference period (if not calendar year):

Fiscal year beginning 1 July of the year indicated.

Scope:

Through 1989, all manufacturing establishments owned by multi-establishment enterprises and single establishment manufacturing enterprises with four or more persons employed. Beginning 1990, all establishments.

The index numbers of industrial production cover, in principle, establishments with 4 or more persons engaged or those using power equipment.

Method of enumeration:

Not reported.

Adjusted for non-response:

Not reported.

Concepts and definitions of variables:

Number of establishments is the number on 30 June. The establishment is the smallest accounting unit of a business within an Australian state or territory, controlling its productive activities and maintaining a specific range of detailed data enabling value added to be calculated. In general, an establishment covers all operations at a physical location but may consist of a group of locations provided they are within the same state or territory. The majority of establishments operate at one location only.

Through 1989, number of employees refers to the average number of persons employed over the year. Beginning 1990, the number of persons engaged is taken, including working proprietors and employees on the payroll for the last pay period in June of each year.

Wages and salaries paid to employees is gross wages and salaries of all employees.

Output is turnover measured as sales of goods (exclusive of excise and sales tax), whether produced by the establishment or not, plus transfers out of goods to other establishments of the same business, plus bounties and subsidies on production, plus all other operating revenue from outside the business (such as commission revenue, repair and service revenue and rent, leasing and hiring revenue), plus capital work done for own use or for rental or for lease.

Value added is turnover plus the net increase in stocks, less purchases, transfers in and selected expenses.

Gross fixed capital formation is net capital expenditure on tangible assets. Tangible assets include land, buildings and structures, plus plant, machinery and equipment (including motor vehicles). Capital expenditure includes all costs which have been capitalised, including interest, legal fees, real estate transfer costs, finance leases and assets acquired under finance leases. Also included are progress payments made to contractors for capital works done by them.

Concepts and definitions of variables:

Number of employees refers to persons employed on 31 December.

Wages and salaries paid to employees is compensation of employees covering both wages and salaries, plus employers' contributions to social security schemes and pension funds. It includes regular and overtime payments, bonuses, cost-of-living allowances, vacation and sick leave pay, taxes and social insurance contributions payable by employees and deducted by employers, payments in kind and allowances.

Output is gross output valued in producers' prices, including all indirect taxes but excluding value added tax and all subsidies. It includes all products, net change in work in progress, work done on own account, services rendered, goods shipped in the same condition as received, electricity sold, fixed assets produced for own use, net changes in stock levels of finished goods and goods made by homeworkers and handicraft workers.

Value added is based on the census concept. It is calculated as the value of gross output less the cost of materials, fuels and other supplies, contract and commission work done by others, repair and maintenance work done by others, goods shipped in the same condition as received and electricity purchased. Input estimates are on a consumed basis. The cost of, and receipts for, non-industrial services are included.

Gross fixed capital formation is investment expenditure defined as the value of purchases of fixed assets, including own-account construction of assets. The value of sales of fixed assets is not deducted. "Fixed assets" are those with a productive life of at least one year, including assets made by a unit's labour force; additions, alterations, and repairs to existing assets; new assets, whether yet in use or not; and used assets. The valuation is at full cost including delivered price, cost of installation, fees and taxes (except value added tax). The value of sales of used assets is the actual amount realized.

BARBADOS

Supplier of information:

Barbados Statistical Service, Bridgetown.

Basic source of data:

Annual survey of industrial establishments.

Major deviations from current version of ISIC:

Food products (ISIC 311/2) does not include sugar manufacturing.

Reference period (if not calendar year):

The period of reference is, in general, the calendar year. Where only data for a financial year are available for certain establishments, such data are incorporated for the calendar year in which the major part of the financial year falls.

Scope:

All establishments.

Method of enumeration:

Questionnaires distributed by mail with follow-up site visits as required.

Adjusted for non-response:

No.

Concepts and definitions of variables:

Number of employees is the average of employment in each of the four quarters.

Estimates of wages and salaries exceed value added in several industries. This is because one or more relatively important establishments within the industry have been highly subsidized.

Output is the value of gross receipts adjusted for inventory changes.

Value added represents output less the costs of goods and services purchased during the year and is net of non-industrial costs.

Gross fixed capital formation refers to the net increase in the value of fixed assets during the year. Expenditures for current repair and maintenance are not included.

Related national publications:

Statistical Bulletin; Survey of Industrial Establishments (occasional), both published by the Barbados Statistical Service, Bridgetown.

BULGARIA

Supplier of information:

Central Statistical Office of the Council of Ministers, Sofia.

Basic source of data:

Statistical reports collected regularly by the above office.

Major deviations from current version of ISIC:

The classification of all of the enterprise's primary and subsidiary units is determined by its basic activity. Where the enterprise engages in more than one kind of activity, the nature of the main product determines the classification; if no product accounts for more than 80 per cent of total output, the enterprise is classified under miscellaneous manufacturing. All activities of co-operatives are included in the miscellaneous manufacturing branch. Repair services for the general public are included in total manufacturing (ISIC major division 3).

Reference period (if not calendar year):*Scope:

All State and co-operative industrial enterprises with independent balance-sheets. Subsidiary industrial activity of non-industrial enterprises and organizations and private enterprises are excluded.

The indices of industrial production cover, in principle, all industrial establishments.

Method of enumeration:

Not reported.

Adjusted for non-response:

Not reported.

Concepts and definitions of variables:

Number of enterprises refers to state-owned and co-operative industrial enterprises as of 31 December of the reference year.

Number of employees includes apprentices and non-industrial staff.

Wages and salaries is computed by UNIDO from reported wages and salaries per employee.

Gross fixed capital formation refers to the net increase in fixed assets other than land during the reference year. Valuation is at full original cost.

CAMEROON

Supplier of information:

Direction de la statistique et de la comptabilité nationale, Ministère de l'économie et du plan, Yaoundé

Basic source of data:

Annual industrial survey.

Major deviations from current version of ISIC:

Data collected under the national classification system have been reclassified by the national authorities to achieve the best possible correspondence with the current version of the ISIC. Lack of detail in national data, however, results in several cases where correspondence with the ISIC cannot be achieved.

Repair of bicycles and motorcycles (part of ISIC major division 9) is included in ISIC 384.

Reference period (if not calendar year):

Fiscal year ending 30 June of the year indicated.

Scope:

All industrial enterprises in the modern sector which keep accounting records.

Method of enumeration:

Questionnaires distributed by mail with follow-up site visits as required.

Adjusted for non-response:

No.

Concepts and definitions of variables:

Number of employees relates only to regular employees.

Wages and salaries refers to gross payments in cash and in kind made to regular employees during the year.

Output is equal to the value of sales of goods and services produced, including goods purchased for resale without further processing, and excludes the value of goods and capital assets produced by the enterprise for its own use.

Value added is the value of all products and services rendered by the enterprise, including the value of fixed capital assets produced on own account and the net change in the value of work in progress less the costs of intermediate goods and services.

CANADA

Supplier of information:

Statistics Canada, Ottawa.

Industrial statistics for the OECD countries are compiled by the OECD secretariat, which supplies them to UNIDO. The notes appearing here are based on information in the OECD publication Industrial Structure Statistics (annual), OECD, Paris.

Basic source of data:

Census of manufactures.

Major deviations from current version of ISIC:

Data have been regrouped to ISIC(Rev.2) from the Canadian Standard Industrial Classification (1980), which has been in use since 1983. There are no major deviations from the current version of the ISIC.

Reference period (if not calendar year):*Scope:

All establishments.

Method of enumeration:

Not reported.

Adjusted for non-response:

Not reported.

Concepts and definitions of variables:

Number of employees refers to the average number of employees throughout the year, whether full-or part-time.

Wages and salaries paid to employees includes: regular and overtime cash payments; bonuses and cost-of-living allowances; vacation and sick leave pay; taxes and social insurance contributions, etc. payable by employees and deduced by employers; payments in kind, and allowances.

Output is gross output including all products, work done on own account, manufacturing services rendered, goods shipped in the same condition as received, electricity sold, fixed assets produced for own use, goods made by homeworkers and handicraft workers if the establishment has a pay deduction number, and revenue from rental of own products, allowing for net changes of work in progress and in stocks of finished goods.

Value added is based on the census concept. It is calculated as gross output less the cost of materials, fuels and other supplies, goods shipped in the same condition as received and electricity purchased. It includes receipts for various non-industrial services, but does not include interest or rental other than on machinery produced and rented. The cost of non-industrial services is not deducted.

Supplier of information:

Instituto Nacional de Estadísticas, Santiago.

Basic source of data:

Annual industrial survey.

Major deviations from current version of ISIC:

None reported.

Reference period (if not calendar year):*Scope:

The survey relates to establishments with 10 or more persons engaged on a complete enumeration basis. However, the data reported in the tables relate only to establishments with 50 or more persons engaged.

The indices of industrial production cover, in principle, all establishments employing 10 or more persons.

Method of enumeration:

Not reported.

Adjusted for non-response:

No.

Concepts and definitions of variables:

Number of employees is the average of the numbers for the months of February, May, August and November.

Output is not adjusted for the cost of goods purchased for resale without further processing.

Supplier of information:

State Statistical Bureau, Beijing.

Basic source of data:

Regular reports of industrial undertakings.

Major deviations from current version of ISIC:

Data collected under the national classification system have been reclassified by the national authorities to correspond approximately with the current version of the ISIC.

Reference period (if not calendar year):*Scope:

Coverage varies from table to table. The average number of employees relates to state-owned enterprises. The estimates of output and value added relate to whole-people-owned and collectively-owned industrial enterprises with independent accounting systems. For wages and salaries, coverage is not reported.

Method of enumeration:

Not reported.

Adjusted for non-response:

Not reported.

Concepts and definitions of variables:

No deviations from the standard UN concepts and definitions are reported.

COLOMBIA

Supplier of information:

Departamento Administrativo Nacional de Estadística, Bogotá.
The index numbers of industrial production are compiled by the Banco de la Republica.

Basic source of data:

Annual manufacturing survey.

Major deviations from current version of ISIC:

None reported.

Reference period (if not calendar year):*Scope:

Establishments with 10 or more persons engaged. However, those establishments which were covered in the preceding year but have less than 10 persons engaged during the year of reference are also included in the survey.

The indices of industrial production cover all establishments with 10 or more persons engaged.

Method of enumeration:

Not reported.

Adjusted for non-response:

Not reported.

Concepts and definitions of variables:

Number of employees is as of the pay period which includes 15 November. Persons on strike are excluded, while apprentices are included.

Wages and salaries represents all payments, in cash and in kind, made to employees during the year. Employer's contributions to social insurance, welfare funds and other similar schemes are excluded, unless otherwise indicated.

Output is the value of goods produced by the establishment, adjusted for the net change in the value of work in progress, receipts for industrial services rendered to others, the value of goods shipped in the same condition as received and the value of electricity sold.

Value added is output less the cost of raw materials, supplies, fuels, electricity purchased and industrial services rendered by others.

Gross fixed capital formation refers to the value of purchases and own-account construction of fixed assets, less the value of sales and depreciation. The revaluation of fixed assets over the year is taken into account.

Related national publications:

Industria Manufacturera (annual); Boletín Mensual de Estadística (la Industria Manufacturera); Anuario General de Estadística, Tomo IV; Informe al Congreso Nacional (annual), all published by the Departamento Administrativo Nacional de Estadística, Bogotá.

CYPRUS

Supplier of information:

Department of Statistics and Research, Ministry of Finance, Nicosia.

Basic source of data:

Annual survey of industrial production.

Major deviations from current version of ISIC:

Data exclude cottage industry (embroidery, weaving and cane products).

Reference period (if not calendar year):

Scope:

All establishments in the Government controlled areas, with adjustments on the basis of the results of the 1986 census.

The indices of industrial production cover a representative sample of all establishments.

Method of enumeration:

The inquiry is carried out on a sample basis, and through interviews. Every five years, the Department conducts a census of industrial production covering establishments with 5 or more persons engaged on a complete enumeration basis and establishments with 4 or fewer persons engaged on a sample basis. The census provides the basis for reviewing the intercensal estimates of output, value added and employment that are compiled from the annual survey. The frame for the census as well as for the annual survey is provided by a registry of establishments, which is updated prior to each census.

Adjusted for non-response:

Yes.

Concepts and definitions of variables:

Number of employees relates to annual averages.

Output comprises the value of all goods produced, the value of services rendered to others and other receipts. It is valued at the prices secured by the establishment or the enterprise including excise taxes, but excluding discounts, commissions, subsidies and VAT. If transport costs are paid by the producer, the value of output includes these costs. Otherwise, valuation is at ex-factory prices.

Value added refers to the value of output minus the costs of materials, fuel and electricity used, and the amount paid for work given out.

Gross fixed capital formation is the current value of purchases minus disposals of fixed assets, including buildings, transport equipment, machinery and other equipment. Major additions, alterations and improvements to existing fixed assets are included, as are fixed assets produced by the establishment for its own use.

DENMARK

Supplier of information:

Danmarks Statistik, Copenhagen.

Industrial statistics for the OECD countries are compiled by the OECD secretariat, which supplies them to UNIDO. The notes appearing here are based on information in the OECD publication Industrial Structure Statistics (annual), OECD, Paris.

Basic source of data:

Surveys based partly on the establishment as a local unit (employment, wages and salaries, gross fixed capital formation) and partly on kind-of-activity units (output, value added).

Major deviations from current version of ISIC:

None reported.

Reference period (if not calendar year):

Scope:

Surveys covering units with more than nineteen persons engaged are conducted every year for output, value added and gross fixed capital formation. These are supplemented by surveys every five years covering units with 1 to 19 employed in the enterprise.

Through 1989, the annual survey for employment and wages and salaries covered all units with six or more persons in the enterprise. Beginning 1990, the figures for number of establishments, employment and wages and salaries are derived from the register-based statistics of establishments and employment. All establishments with any employment in manufacturing are covered.

The index numbers of industrial production cover, in principle, manufacturing enterprises with 6 or more operatives.

Method of enumeration:

Not reported.

Adjusted for non-response:

Not reported.

Concepts and definitions of variables:

Number of employees (through 1989) refers to the average of the numbers at the end of March, June, September and November. Part-time employees working a minimum of 15 hours per week and apprentices are included. Beginning 1990, it refers to all full-time and part-time employees and all self-employed at end November.

Before 1990, wages and salaries includes regular and overtime cash payments, bonuses, cost-of-living allowances, vacation and sick leave pay and wages paid to homeworkers. Beginning 1990, the figures include all outlays of these kinds reported to the tax authorities by establishments operating during the year. This means that outlays even in establishments which are not in activity at end November are included in the figures.

Output is given as gross output in factor values. It includes the value of all products, net change of work in progress, work done on own account, services rendered, goods shipped in the same condition as received, electricity sold, fixed assets produced for own use, net changes in stocks of finished goods, goods made by homeworkers and handicraft workers and other elements of turnover.

Value added is calculated as the value of gross output less the cost of materials, fuels and other supplies, contract and commission work done by others, goods shipped in the same condition as received and electricity purchased. Input estimates are on a consumed basis.

Gross fixed capital formation is given as the value of purchases of fixed assets, including own-account construction of assets, less the value of sales of fixed assets. Fixed assets are those with a productive life of more than three years, including assets made by a unit's labour force for its own use, additions, alterations and improvements to existing assets, new and used assets. Valuation is a full cost incurred, including the delivered price and the installation cost. For assets produced by the unit, the cost of work put in progress is used. The actual amount realized is taken when deducting sales and used assets.

ETHIOPIA

Supplier of information:

Central Statistical Authority, Addis Ababa.

Basic source of data:

Annual survey of manufacturing industry.

Major deviations from current version of ISIC:

None reported.

Reference period (if not calendar year):

Fiscal year ending 7 July of the year indicated.

Scope:

Establishments with 10 or more persons engaged and using power driven machines.

Method of enumeration:

Individual site visits by enumerators.

Adjusted for non-response:

Yes.

Concepts and definitions of variables:

The establishment is defined as an entity comprising the whole of the premises under the same ownership or management at a particular address.

Number of employees refers to all persons on the pay-roll, whether employed on a full time or part-time basis. The number of part-time workers has been adjusted to give the equivalent of full-time workers, taking into account the number of months worked.

Output is the sum of the value of (a) goods produced, (b) industrial services rendered to others, (c) goods sold in the same condition as purchased, (d) net increase between the beginning and the end of the reference year in stocks of finished goods and work in progress, (e) electricity sold, and (f) fixed assets produced during the reference year by the establishment for its own use.

Value added refers to census value added and is defined as the difference between output and industrial costs.

Gross fixed capital formation relates to additions of new and second-hand assets valued at purchasers' prices. Customs duties, other taxes, transfer fees, delivery and installation costs are included. Also included is the value of work done by the establishment for construction of buildings and structures (including materials used), for installation of machinery and equipment, and for capitalized alterations, improvements or rebuilding. The value of sales is not deducted.

FIJI

Supplier of information:

Bureau of Statistics, Suva.

Basic source of data:

Annual Census of Industries.

Major deviations from current version of ISIC:

Data collected under the national classification system have been reclassified by the national authorities to correspond approximately with the current version of the ISIC.

Reference period (if not calendar year):*Scope:

All establishments. However, household industrial units are not fully covered due to the difficulties involved in identifying these units, with the result that handicraft industries are considerably underestimated.

Method of enumeration:

Questionnaires distributed by mail with follow-up site visits as required.

Adjusted for non-response:

Except for number of establishments, the data do not include estimates for non-response.

Concepts and definitions of variables:

Wages and salaries includes employers' contribution to social security schemes, the Fiji National Provident Fund, private pension arrangements, health insurance and similar schemes.

Output refers to gross output and includes non industrial services.

Value added refers to total value added, which is the same as the contribution of each branch to gross domestic product.

FINLAND

Supplier of information:

Statistics Finland, Helsinki.

Industrial statistics for the OECD countries are compiled by the OECD secretariat, which supplies them to UNIDO. The notes appearing here are based on information in the OECD publication Industrial Structure Statistics (annual), OECD, Paris.

Basic source of data:

Annual industrial statistics inquiry.

Major deviations from current version of ISIC:

None reported.

Reference period (if not calendar year):

The survey covers chiefly the calendar year, however, in some cases establishments are allowed to report using their own financial year.

Scope:

All units employing five or more persons are surveyed.

Method of enumeration:

Not reported.

Adjusted for non-response:

Not reported.

Concepts and definitions of variables:

Number of employees, defined as "wage earners and salaried personnel", covers salaried employees, wage earners and all full- and part-time employees. It is based on the average number of employees throughout the year.

Wages and salaries refers to the compensation of employees. Employers' contributions to social security schemes and pension funds are covered. Regular and overtime cash payments, bonuses and cost-of-living allowances are included, along with vacation and sick leave pay, taxes and social insurance contributions payable by employees and deducted by employers, and payments in kind. Social costs are employers' legally required supplements to wages and salaries. They cover statutory social insurance contributions and voluntary social insurance contributions of a statutory nature.

Output is the gross value of production including the value of all products, allowing for net change of work in progress, goods shipped in the same condition as received, net changes in stocks of finished goods, services rendered and electricity sold. Valuation is in factor values, excluding all indirect taxes and including all subsidies.

Value added uses the national accounting concept. It is gross output less the value of materials, fuels and other supplies, contract and commission work done by others, repair and maintenance work done by others, and electricity purchases. Input estimates are on a received basis.

Gross fixed capital formation is expenditure on the purchase of fixed assets plus own-account construction of assets, less sales of fixed assets. Fixed assets are those with a productive life of at least one year, and include assets made by a unit's labour force for its own use; additions, alterations, improvements and repairs to existing assets; new assets (whether or not in use) and used assets. Valuation is at full cost incurred, including delivered price, cost of installation and fees and taxes.
